Prep music men rehearse for Spring concert.

Band Grows With New Moderator

Under the supervision of its new moderator, Mr. Caufield, S.J., the Brooklyn Prep school band has begun another year of activity.

In an effort to give the band more depth and variation, and to enrich its tones, Mr. Caufield has increased its membership. As a result there are eighteen new members presently taking lessons in various instruments. The ultimate goal behind this sudden increase is to raise the school to its former status as one of Prep's leading activities. While this may prove to be a long and difficult task, he is encouraged by the fact that there are four very talented freshmen in the band who will eventually form the nucleus of future Prep bands.

Band Plans Big Year

The band has a large calendar of events for the current school year, the first of which is a performance at parents' night in February. The program will include such extremes as "Yellow Bird" and "Midnight in Moscow," and will be highlighted by trumpet soloist Lou Strong's "Wonderland by Night." Besides rehearsing for their performance at the Christmas assembly, the band is already preparing for the annual Spring Concert. In addition, Mr. Caufield is planning the formation of a small jazz combo, composed of the top musicians of each section of the band; trumpet, trombone, saxophone, clarinet, and drum. The combo will have the opportunity to learn and display the intricacies and rhythms of modern music.

If the enthusiasm of the moderator is any indication of the ultimate success of this year's band, it should be a very successful year indeed.

Players Perform At Prep Assembly

In the assembly on November 1 the Brooklyn Prep Players presented the first act of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth." This assembly marked the first time the society performed before the entire student body. The thespians initiated a new type of school assembly, organized for the benefit of the student audience.

After the presentation of the scholastic accolades by Father Headmaster, Dramatics president, John McHugh, introduced the contemporary comedy with a brief epitome of Wilder's concept of divine energy which permeates and guides the world.

Mr. Winans, co-moderator of the society, said this of the performance: "It is regrettable that time allowed only one act of the play to be presented, because the characters cannot be fully appreciated nor can Wilder's concepts be grasped completely in a short time."

However, the supporting roles of Henry and Gladys Antrobus (Steve Whitson and Joe Stewart) were interpreted in such a way as to illuminate and give depth to the major figures, Sabina (Jack Greene) and Mr. and Mrs. Antrobus (Frank Romer and Reynold Buono).

Players to perform at St. Brendan's

On Wednesday, November 21, the cast will move the presentation to Walt Whitman Auditorium at Brooklyn College where they will perform before the eleven hundred pupils of St. Brendan's. The first act will also be staged at Kings County Hospital sometime in the near future.

Middle States To Visit Prep

A team of twenty educators from the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will visit Brooklyn Prep for three days beginning March 26, 1963. The purpose of this organization is to evaluate the educational program of secondary schools and colleges on the Eastern seaboard.

During its stay at Prep, the group will make a minute study of all aspects of Prep life. All classes will be carefully observed. All of Prep's facilities—academic, guidance, spiritual, athletic, library, curricular, and extra-curricular—will come under the careful eye of this committee. It will be interested in studying the relationship between students and faculty. In short, the committee will seek to learn Prep's philosophy of education, to learn how well the school's program conforms to this philosophy, and to discover how Prep meets the needs of the students and community.

Preparation Begun

Work has already begun in preparation for the coming evaluation. During the past summer all the classrooms were refinished and new desks were installed. The modern language facilities were improved considerably.

Committee Formed

To supervise the enormous task of preparation, a steering committee has been formed among the faculty, consisting of four men: Fr. Kelly, S.J., chairman, Fr. Farrand, S.J., Fr. Muselman, S.J., and Mr. Devlin. In addition, the Prep faculty has organized subcommittees to study every aspect of the Prep that will be included in the evaluation of the Middle States Association. Each department has formed its own subcommittee to study its particular syllabus and the methods employed in teaching it.

Every effort is being made to advance the work already begun. Nothing will be overlooked that can contribute to the improvement of Brooklyn Prep.

"The earth's getting so silly; no wonder the sun turns cold."

Eagles Confront Redmen; Football Dance To Follow

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day, the Brooklyn Prep Eagles face their traditional arch-rivals, the St. John's Redmen, in the annual Turkey Tilt at Boys' High Field.

This game represents the "rubber" match in the Blue-Red competition, and a Prep victory will give us a favorable edge in the win-loss column, upsetting the present balance of 19 and 19 over the past 38 seasons. This goal should provide an added incentive to the victory-starved Eagles.

While this year's Varsity is not the run away favorite that it was in '61 and '60, they have the potential strength to scalp the Redmen, who at present have a record of two and three for the year. Some ten thousand fans are expected to swell the stands at Boys' High Field to witness this crucial clash.

After the Redmen's feathers have settled to the ground and the 1962 football season has become history, the Athletic Association, under the direction of Fr. O'Connor, S.J., will sponsor the annual Football Dance in the Prep cafeteria at 8:30 P.M., Friday, November 23.

The highlight of the evening will be the awarding of the trophies to the Outstanding Player of the St. John's Game and to the most improved players of the Varsity and J.V. teams. Past recipients of the former award have been John Dockery, '61 and John Whelan, '60.

The musical background will be provided by the Blue Notes, directed by Jim Inciardi, class of '57.

Prep Alumni Meet Tonight

On November 21, Thanksgiving Eve, the Alumni Association of Brooklyn Prep will hold its annual Homecoming. In keeping with Brooklyn's tradition, the Prep Alumni will play the present Varsity Basketball Squad.

The game will be followed by an informal session in the cafeteria where the former Prepsters can talk over old times and new.

Also, on Thursday, Dec. 13, the Association will hold its Reunion Dinner in the Prep cafeteria. The guest speaker at this affair will be James J. Kelly, '26, the Commissioner of Police of Nassau County. The evening shows every promise of being a very pleasant one.

The Catholic Intellectual And The Catholic College

A man can call himself truly educated only when he achieves an integration between all the arts, all the sciences, and all the experiences of human life. Such an integration can only spring from a meaningful perception of an ultimate purpose behind everything that falls within a man's experience. The Catholic college exists precisely to help a person achieve this integration.

Why, then, do Catholics attend secular institutions? Apart from economic reasons, the two main desires of such Catholics could be termed "liberty" and "liberality."

"I want to see how the other half lives."

"I want to get a new viewpoint; the Catholic Church is too parochial."

"Everyone knows the secular colleges are better."

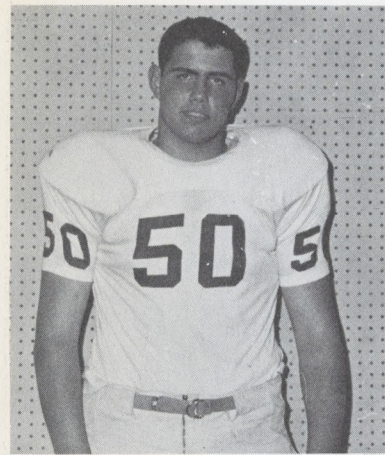

All of these are manifestations of premature individualism, a shortsighted desire to meet a new world before one has mastered the old.

For the dubious superiority that a secular college supposedly possesses, the young student will encounter, amid a maze of contradictory and doubtful doctrines, a cynical credo that rejects the possibility of any absolute truth, and regards man's activity only in the light of its sociological or intellectual impacts. This deification of the rational, this flat denial of a moral code, will exclude all possibility of a unified, ordered outlook on life. After four years, the student can hardly avoid being affected by the skeptical, nonchalant, and tenuous credo to which he was exposed. Drifting freely and randomly, without purpose or goal, many adopt financial achievement as the standard of success and soon they are lost amid a thousand others in a sea of disillusionment.

Opposed to the turmoil of the secular institution, the Catholic college offers to the growing intellectual a program of ordered development. With faculties and curricula of outstanding and recognized calibre, Catholic universities offer him the opportunities to strive for excellence as he strives for God. As the young man matures, he begins to see intrinsic value in the apparent chaos about him. In such an atmosphere he can arrive at a focal point for his future. He can discover the very real significance of his own life. Only under the direction of the Church and in a Catholic college will the Catholic intellectual attain the insight, knowledge, and education necessary to orient himself as a twentieth century Christian.

SPORTLIGHT ON: BILL BLUM

One of the most important and responsible men on any football team is the center. Since he has to handle the ball on every offensive play, he must always guard against a fumble, which could make the difference between a win and a loss. On defense he has to stop enemy backs when they try the numerous "up the middle" plays.

Many football teams have had to play out their schedules with a weak man in his key position. Such is not the case at Brooklyn Prep this year. Co-captain Bill Blum has handled this position expertly. After being named the Most Valuable Player on Jayvee two years ago, Bill moved right up to the varsity. Last season he was chosen the Most Improved Player on the varsity squad, and received honorable mention from most of the all-city teams. This year Bill has been better than ever. He has been stopping enemy backs at the line of scrimmage time and again, as well as clearing the way for Prep ball-carriers.

As Thanksgiving Day and the traditional game with our arch-rival St. John's Prep draw near, this topic was foremost in Blum's mind.

"As our record proves, we have not been too successful this year; but a convincing win against St. John's could make up for a lot of our mistakes. No matter how well either of us does in our other games, this is always a close, hard-fought contest. Last year many people thought we would run St. John's off the field, but we only beat them by a touchdown. I guess you could say that the better of the two teams is always a little off form, while the underdog plays a little over its head."

After having two consecutive undefeated squads, Brooklyn Prep has been faced with the prospect of backing a loser. Many Eagle fans have been rooting the team on in praiseworthy fashion despite the poor record. We were curious to hear our sportlighter's opinion of this "never say die" spirit.

"Although many people do not realize it, it means a lot to each player on the field when he knows that the spectators in the stands are behind him. I know it gives me a good feeling to hear everyone cheering, even though we may be losing. I think a great example of how much fan support helps a team was the Blessed Sacrament game of two years ago. Even though unbeaten, we were picked to lose. However we battled them to a scoreless tie, mainly because we had many more backers in the stands than they did."

Even more important than the support of the fans is the ability of the coaches on the sidelines to prepare their players both mentally and physically for each game. Bill's admiration for Coaches Perry and Walters is great.

"I think we are very fortunate to have the services of Mr. Perry and Mr. Walters. They are two of the best coaches in the city and both of them are respected and liked by all the players on the team. It's hard work for a coach to correct the mistakes which a team repeats week after week. But these men come back again and again to teach us the right way. They deserve a lot of credit for the job they have done."

Bill Blum has shown great spirit and leadership as co-captain of the football squad. As for next year, Bill is hoping for an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

AROUND PREP

Does the Prep give sufficient emphasis to the fine arts?

Bob Kelley 3J

Although the average Prep student has as much instruction in the fine arts as students in other Catholic high schools, I do not think it is sufficient. A staggered system of weekly music and art periods would contribute much to the rounding out of the individual. Such a course would also help the student in deciding his future work. Perhaps a system of short plays with record hops to follow can also be initiated for the winter's Friday nights at Prep.

Alfred Fusco 3F

I think that the art course we had in sophomore year was very interesting and helpful.

Some class outings to the theatre and museums would be very worthwhile. I feel that there is, on the whole, just the right amount of emphasis put on art and culture.

John Di Pietro 1A

I feel that the music course taken by Prep's freshmen is sufficient for high school students. It is a very enjoyable subject because it discusses the different types of music and the important composers in each area. One way Prep can increase its cultural background would be by giving a few more plays and band concerts. As far as it is concerned, I don't think it is necessary unless a person knows definitely that he will enter the field of art after graduation.

Terrence McAteer 1A

Although I think that the music course is satisfactory, I would be interested in taking an art course at Prep. Most other high schools have regular art courses in their programs to round out the other courses. I have never had art and I think that with art and more plays, Prep would have enough emphasis on culture.

Bill Giles 4C

I do not think the average Prep student receives sufficient instruction in art and music.

My English instructor, Mr. Sullivan, offered my class a voluntary, weekly session in the fine arts. The class' unanimous acceptance of the offer shows that there is a desire in qualified students for this kind of course. While I do not think that such courses should be compulsory, I feel that interested and capable students should have the opportunity to take them. I think that more is needed than an occasional play or concert.

Kevin Walsh 2D

For the most part, the cultural opportunities for the Prep students are sufficient. However, I feel that more emphasis should be put on the study of Greek art and culture, since it is the basis of western civilization. I think that the sophomores' course in art appreciation is a step in the right direction.

SPOTLIGHT ON: RICHARD BARBIERI

It isn't very often that one finds a student versatile enough to hold impressive editorships on two of the major publications, and at the same time be president of the very successful Debating Society. But Greek student Richard Barbieri is at home in both these fields and excels in both of them equally well. Wondering why Rich puts so much effort into these different assignments, we found that he had some very valid reasons.

"A life cannot be called successful if it keeps knowledge all to itself. And so, my reason for entering all three of these activities has been to share anything I might know with others, and at the same time, to increase my own knowledge through this interplay and exchange of ideas. I feel that this is the only way in which a person can become truly 'the whole man' he was meant by God to be. As you may have noticed, the extra-curriculars I take part in are principally concerned with the communication of thought. Since one of the requisites of an educated person is the ability to express himself clearly,

I am endeavoring to perfect this trait in myself by public speaking and writing."

Rich is the first student in Prep's long history to hold the office of President of the Debating Society for two successive years. In his capacity as president, his tasks range from planning and research to coaching the less experienced underclassmen in the fundamentals of debate. Some of his more impressive trophies are the results of two successive New York State Championships, and eight victories in the St. Peter's College and Georgetown University debates. Rich unhesitatingly ranks Debating as his most valued activity.

"Debating has been my most valuable activity. It develops speaking ability and it is here one learns that it is working with and for the group that counts most. Along with this team spirit, debating brings the ability and initiative to plunge into any project and solve it by research and logical thinking."

In addition to carrying a heavy extracurricular schedule, our spotlihter is a member of the Greek Course. When asked what benefits the Greek Course offers an individual, Rich replied,

"The Greek Course gives one a perspective; by showing one what people have done and said in the past, it prepares one better to act in the present and future."

Rich has narrowed down his choice of a college to either Boston College or Fordham University, where he hopes to attain a Ph.D. in English. He plans to become a college English professor.

Eagles Show Spirit Despite Five Losses

Although Prep's varsity football squad has compiled a poor record this season, their spirit and drive has been admirable. This should make the Redmen a little wary on Thanksgiving Day.

Following a 32-0 loss at the hands of unbeaten Don Bosco H.S. of New Jersey, the varsity eleven captured their first victory of the current season by nipping N.Y.M.A. 13-6 at Cornwall, N. Y.

In the first quarter, before the busloads of loyal Prep rooters arrived, the Kaydets drew first blood, scoring on a long drive after the opening kickoff. The Eagles came to life in the second half, scoring twice, and controlling the pigskin for almost the entire half.

After the spirited Prep line, led by Tom Harmon, broke through and blocked a punt on the N.Y.M.A. 22 yard-line, Sammy Fant wove through the defense on a 20 yard touchdown jaunt. Bob Kelley booted the extra point and Prep took the lead 7-6.

The final tally of the day came in the fourth quarter when quarterback Kelley engineered a 92 yard drive in five plays, highlighted by Joe Farrell's 60 yard sideline scamper and brought to completion by fullback Bob Schiebel's 1 yard plunge to paydirt. The conversion was missed, but Prep came out on top, 13-6.

In their next encounter, the Eagles suffered a heartbreaking loss to Fordham Prep at Boys' High Field. Fate was with the Rams as they recovered a fumble in the end zone on an intended Prep punt. This was the only score of the game until the last four seconds, when the Eagles attempted a pass and alert Fordham halfback Schmerge picked off the aerial deep in Prep territory and streaked, untouched, into the end zone. Fullback Elia bulled his way for the two points as the gun sounded. Prep showed great spirit in this battle but the talented toe of Ram quarterback Robinson saved Fordham from many tough spots.

On Sunday, October 29, the Kaydets from Xavier journeyed to Boys High to meet the Eagle eleven. In this contest, the Prep offense drove time and time again into Xavier territory only to be stopped because of bad ball-handling by the Eagle backfield. An acute case of fumblyitis constantly plagued the Eagles' drives, causing them to lose to Catholic Football Conference rival Xavier by a score of 7-0. The Eagles, now 0 and 2 in league competition, have been mathematically eliminated from capturing their third straight Conference title.

The only score came midway in the first period when Kaydet halfback Frank Merlo plunged across the Prep goal after a 40 yard broken-field run. The extra point was added and it proved to be the last score of the game. The only bright spots in the game were the defensive work of Bill Blum and Lee Cutrone, and the fine running displayed by Joe Farrell and Lou Petrizzo.

The Eagle scoring punch was considerably hampered by the loss of fullback Bob Schiebel and tackle Tom Harmon, both of whom were unable to play because of injuries sustained in the Fordham game. After the game, Frank Merlo of Xavier was awarded the annual Rector's Award as the outstanding player of the Brooklyn Prep-Xavier game.

A determined St. Joseph team from Secaucus, New Jersey, handed the Eagles their fifth defeat of the season by an overpowering 40-0 score.

St. Joseph's broke into the scoring column late in the first quarter when Tom Greigo returned a Brooklyn Prep punt, thirty yards for a touchdown. After an Eagle drive had been halted, a lateral from Petrocelli to Campbell gave St. Joseph's a touchdown and a 13-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. In a tight second period St. Joseph added another touchdown, while an Eagle drive was once more curtailed.

In the second half, St. Joseph's showed why they were ranked high in an unofficial high school poll as they drove for three more touchdowns making the final score 40-0.

Harriers Blank St. John's

Even without leading spike-men Kevin Lanigan and Bill Azzinaro, the powerful Prep unit shut out St. John's Prep by sweeping the first five places. Pat Neubert broke the tape first, followed by Bob Grossberger, Joe Fedele, Lou Forte, and Walt O'Brien, respectively.

The solid Jayvee team matched the Varsity's feat, and the scorers for this trounce were led in by Al Renna, with Marty Buckley, Ronnie Homer, George Conk, and Tom Patitucci close on his trail.

The Frosh squad completed the day by polishing off a 26-29 victory. Ken Robotham (7:08) and Chris Termini (7:12) ran second and third, while Darryl Parchment, Marc Verini, and Jim Clarke came in sixth, seventh, and eighth.

The St. John's Interscholastic Meet provided the first championship run, and Mr. Lawrence's harriers obliged with a fifteenth place in a field of fifty schools. Kevin Lanigan chugged the two and a half mile grind in 14:50, while Pat Neubert, Bill Azzinaro, Joe Fedele, and Walt O'Brien made formidable showings.

A week later in the Eastern State Championships, the team improved to tenth, with Lanigan, Forte, Azzinaro, Neubert, and Bruce Buono comprising the unit.

In the Diocesan meet on October 27, the ever-improving team clipped off another place for ninth. Once again, the scorers were Lanigan, Azzinaro, Neubert, Forte, and Buono, with four of the men tallying a time under fifteen minutes.

The best showing of the season occurred on Election Day in the Private School Championships. The team displayed its depth with a well-earned seventh finish, as each competitor turned in his best time. Lanigan crossed the line in twenty-third, and Forte (14:41), Azzinaro (14:42), Grossberger (14:43), and Neubert (14:59) followed close behind.

The J.V. has shown considerable strength, placing sixteenth among forty schools in the St. John's run, and then grabbing eighth in the Eastern States meet. There were two outstanding individual efforts in these meets, by Frank Zagare, eleventh in the second J.V. race, and Jay Heavey, sixteenth in the porkchop race.

Buono leads the field at Van Cortlandt.

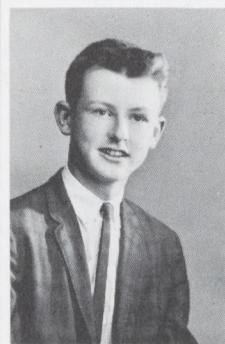

However, they really came through in the Diocesan Championships, with an excellent fourth standing. Bob Grossberger (14:55) and Marty Buckley (15:13) snatched bronze medals in eighth and twentieth, respectively, and Al Renna (15:18), George Conk (15:22), and Frank Zagare (15:32) completed the squad.

Renna sped to thirteenth in the Private Schools meet, and led the quintet to a seventh place finish. Mark Cuniff (15:25), George Conk (15:30), Ron Homer (15:34), and Tom Patitucci (15:36) followed in that order.

by Bill Murray

On Thanksgiving Day some five thousand Brooklyn Prep fans, St. John's fans, and just plain football fans will gather at Boys High Field for the annual Brooklyn Prep-St. John's game. This traditional rivalry had its origin in 1920, when the Eagles won 10-0, and has grown over the years into one of the fiercest competitions in the city. Each squad is always "up" for this big one and this is testified to by the brand of football that is played in all of these games. This year the pitch of excitement is no different from any other.

It is true that the Eagles have not had a very exciting season. Though they have played their hearts out in every game this year, they have left the field with only one victory. But in spite of the lopsided record, the Prep players still have a keen desire to do their best at all times. "Never say die" is a cliché freely tossed about in sports circles. But in the case of our squad it represents the true picture. Even in the St. Joseph's encounter, with the game far out of reach, the Eagles continued to put out their best efforts. The pride which keeps the team going is especially evident in three seniors: co-captains Bill Blum and Tom Ferramosca, and Noel Inzerille.

These three linemen have won the respect of each of Prep's opponents by their hard-nosed play, regardless of the scoreboard reading. They have been an inspiration to the other members of the team and to the fans in the stands.

We can be sure that this squad won't let us down on Thanksgiving Day. However, is it also true that we won't let the team down? Although there are many Prep rooters who continue to back the team week after week, there are still a discouraging number who don't even bother to come out to the games. It is hoped that these students will come out and give their whole-hearted support to the team on Thanksgiving Day. For this is not just to be regarded as another game. This is by far the most important athletic event of the year for us. The Brooklyn Prep-St. John's game is a tradition. It is a matter of pride for us to beat them.

St. John's hasn't been able to claim a victory over us in the past four years. This Thanksgiving they'll be out to break that losing streak. Our players are determined to beat them again. Let's make sure that the rest of us have this same determination.

Bill's Bulletin:

Although the school year is only two months gone, Prep's frosh have already proven that they'll be heard from in athletics in future years. The newly organized Freshmen Football team posted a 2-1-1 record against formidable opposition. The yearling swimming squad proved their ability by dunking St. Francis Prep, a perennial swimming power, in their first meet. Bob Burke, brother of former Olympic star Lynn Burke, broke the city record for frosh in the one hundred yard freestyle in his first crack at it . . . Prep's Varsity roundball squad will play one of its games at Madison Square Garden this winter. The game is scheduled for February 13 against Chaminade.

J. V. Shows Promise For Next Year's Varsity

While the jayvee gridders have compiled a poor record of only one win against three defeats, Coach Duffy has developed many future varsity mainstays.

After being shut out 20-0 in the first game of the season by Fordham Prep, the little Eagles exploded for 28 points against the Engineers of Brooklyn Tech.

Midway through the opening period, Quarterback Tony Giordano threw an 18 yard pass to Paul Purpi who went over for the T.D. The jayveers scored again in the half on a Giordano to Corbyons pass play. A two point conversion was added, and at halftime the score stood at 14-0.

The Freshman squad has been coming along under the coaching of Mr. Long. Chris Termini (6:58) and Ken Robotham (6:59) have been leading the squad with the strong backing of Jimmy Clarke (7:07), Pete McLaughlin (7:12, and Marc Verini (7:23).

The team is building up a powerhouse for next year, but even this year, the Prep squad has the depth to score well in its meets.

After a scoreless third period, the Eagles again scored on a 20 yard broken field run by halfback Art Gonzales, who also scored the two point conversion.

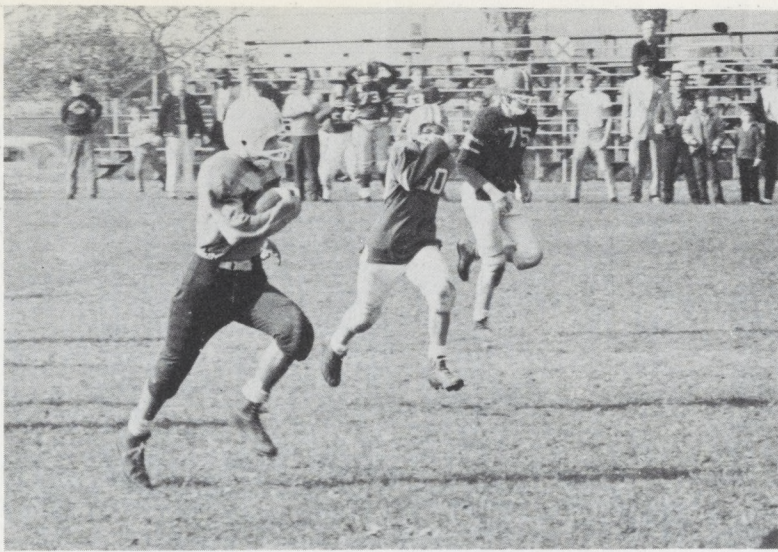

The final Prep touchdown was tallied by Bob Cassano, who plunged over from the Tech seven. A word of praise must be given to the staunch Eagle defense, led by Frank Blum and Joe Lombardo, which held the Engineers scoreless throughout the game.

The Eagles were mathematically eliminated from winning the C.F.C. title when they were defeated by the Redmen of St. John's and the Kaydets of Xavier.

Frosh Athletes Excel

In the first year of its organization, the freshman football squad under the direction of Coach Kelly compiled a successful 2-1-1 record.

In their first encounter after only a few weeks of practice, the Eagles bowed to Mt. St. Michael by a score of 19-0. Although they were defeated, they exhibited a no-die spirit.

They then went on to top Berner H.S., 19-14 with Bob Sharkey, Brian Butler, and Kevin Serrapede hitting paydirt.

The Blue and White then engaged in a thrilling contest with Poly Prep. The final score was 19-19. Trailing 19-6, going into the final quarter, the frosh eleven showed a come-from-behind ability, scoring twice and almost winning the game in the final seconds.

In the last game of the schedule, the Eagles nipped Brooklyn Tech 7-6 with halfback Brian Butler hitting Bob Sharkey with an aerial for the only Prep score. The winning margin came on a pass from O'Hara to Butler for the extra point.

The future looks bright for the Prep's football squads with quarterback O'Hara, halfbacks Butler and Carty, and fullback Foley carrying the ball. Linemen such as "Lumpe" Lombardo, Bob Sharkey, captain Jerry Middlemiss, Tommy Klein, and Jerry Severin also showed great promise with their jarring tackles and blocks.

Frosh Swimming

Victory seems to come second-nature to this year's Freshman swimming team. On October 19, the frosh won their first meet against St. Francis by a score of 43-34. Bob Burke broke a city record in the hundred yard freestyle by finishing with an incredible time of 56.3 seconds. Again the following week, Prep beat Manhattan 51-26, as Burke broke his own previous record with a new time of 56.0 seconds.

Among the more outstanding swimmers are Bob Burke, Ken Staph, and Tom Beck, promising medley men, and backstroke Chris Schwende. The diving team is making great strides through the efforts of Jerry Dwyer and Brian Burns.

It is expected that the squad, under the capable direction of Mr. Beck, will win many more of its upcoming meets, and may finish the season with one of the best frosh swimming teams in the city.

1D Edges Out 1B In Freshmen Day

Immediately after the close of their two day retreat, Prep's frosh joined in the competition of the annual Freshman night. Seven classes battled for the winner's plaque in events ranging from basketball to a tug of war.

The contest began with the track and field events. Garcia of 1B copped first in the 60 yard dash; Howell of 1G ran first in the 220 yard sprint. In the half mile run, Termini of 1A emerged the victor in 2:25.0. In the four lap relay the harriers of 1G were first to hit the tape. The strongmen of 1D muscled their way to victory in the tug of war.

Next on the agenda were the swimming events. Stapf of 1E finished ahead of the field in the 50 yard freestyle, while Monos of 1D copped first place in the 25 yard backstroke. Bob Burke of 1D took the 25 yard breaststroke in an amazing 13.5 seconds. In the relay, class 1B, composed of Schwende, Roewl, Sheehan, and Dwyer, took first place.

After five teams had been eliminated in the basketball competition, classes 1A and 1B were left to fight it out in the finals. At the final whistle, 1B found itself on top by a 31-18 count. 1B's squad was composed of Frosh show strength.

O'Hara, Lurkin, Butler, Garcia, and Ule.

After the points had been tabulated, 1D, with 24 points, was announced the winner. Class 1B finished only one point behind the victors, while 1G tallied twenty points.

Orators Triumph

On October 6, the Oratorical Society journeyed to St. Agnes Academic in College Point to compete in the first Catholic Forensic League tournament of the year. Under the direction of its new coach, Mr. Edward Murphy, S.J., the varsity team of Alfred Fusco, Martin Cahill, Louis Maret, Richard Barbieri, Reynold Buono, and John Agresto placed second among seventeen schools from Brooklyn and Queens.

Louis Maret, a talented junior, copped a third place trophy with his eloquent interpretation of Victor Hugo's "Daeth Penalty."

In the Junior Varsity division, Paul Esposito, a promising sophomore, took second place among thirty-two contestants.

Mag Drive Ends

The results of the recently held Magazine Drive were reported as gratifying though not overwhelming. The returns of the senior classes and some junior classes were disappointing.

The top four classes were 1F ($772.08), 1C ($727.45), 1B ($676.00), and 1A ($654.18). The half day holiday, scheduled for December 7, is awarded to 3F, 3G, 2B, 2D, 2E, 2G, and all freshman classes. The monster pizza party will be enjoyed by 3G and all freshman classes excluding 1G. Ross Gubiotti (1A) was the happy winner of the fifty dollar grand prize drawing.

The Prep received a commission of over $4,000 out of a receipt total of $12,000. The money is being used to pay for the new desks.

2D Ties 2E In Sophomore Day

On October 31, 1962, the Class of '65 competed in Prep's annual Sophomore Day. Competition was held in track and field, swimming, and basketball. The final outcome of the day's strenuous activities was a tie between 2D and 2E.

Mike Maloney (2C) was the biggest surprise of the day. In the 60 yard dash, he ran away from the field, and in the 220 yard dash, he just edged out Wally O'Brien (2E) and Greg Milmoie (2A), both mainstays of last year's frosh track squad. Milmoie, however went on to win the 440 yard run by a comfortable margin in 59.5 seconds. The mile run was won easily by Bob Grossberger (2E), while Wally O'Brien (2E), just nosed out 2C's Frank Zagare for second place. The winning time was 5:12.8. 2E scored again as the four lap relay team of Joe Clarke, Fred Gaffney, Dennis Drake, and Bobby Grossberger beat the 2C aggregation, led by Frank Zagare, and 2D's entry, paced by Joe Cornachio. 2C showed its strength as Zagare, Maloney, Dwyer, Bean, Hay, Sciascia, and Hackett out-pulled 2F for a victory in the Tug-O-War. Class 2A finished in third place.

After enjoying a delicious dinner, the sophs resumed competition. In the final game of the basketball tournament, 2D's five proved to be too strong for the 2A quintet. Both Petrazzola and Abbruzzese starred for the winners, despite fine play by Atanasio and McDermott of 2A. Class 2B finished third, paced by Purpi and White.

Class 2D, led by Charlie Stone, dominated the swimming competition. Stone won three events for his class, scoring a high 15 points. He won the 50 yard freestyle, followed by Don McInerney (2B) and Tom Shawiry (2E). Carey (2B) won the 25 yard backstroke to finish ahead of Lee (2E) and Rabuffo (2A). Steve Treadway, another 2D star, edged out Paul Renner and Bill McGrane, both of 2E, to win the 25 yard breaststroke. In the 25 yard butterfly, Stone won his specialty. Rabuffo and Calhoun, both of 2A, finished second and third respectively. Stone's third victory came in the individual medley. He won easily over Rabuffo (2A) and Cochran (2G). The sweat shirt relay was taken by 2E's team of Shawiry, Lee, Drake, and Renner, while 2A took second and 2B finished third.

The class of '65 would like to extend a vote of thanks to Father DiGiacomo, S.J., Richie Gallagher, John Petito, Kevin Lanigan and the committee of juniors, all of whom made Sophomore Night possible.

Officers Chosen Class 4G Leads For Sodality Lunch League

During the past month, the Junior and Senior Sodality selected the men who will lead them for the coming year.

The Senior Sodality, under the direction of Father Musselman, S.J., chose John McHugh as its prefect. Raymond Carty and Thomas Kennedy will assist him as vice-prefects.

Prefect Kevin Lanigan, Vice-Prefect Martin Cahill and Secretary Steven Whitson will head the Junior Sodality which is under the supervision of Father Guth, S.J.

Mr. Caulfield, S.J., the new moderator of the Sophomore Sodality, is striving to shape his group into a smoothly functioning Christian organization. The sophomores are expected to hold their elections shortly.

Plans for this year's Freshman Sodality, to be headed by Mr. Feeney, S.J., are moving ahead with surprising rapidity. The frosh are hopeful of having their sodality group formed by January at the latest.

As another year of noon-time football draws to a close, classes 4G, 3B, 2D, and 1G hold the leads in their respective years.

The solid combination of Tom Bell to Pete Gulemas and Denny Foley has vaulted 4G into the top slot in senior year, where they have a commanding lead over 4A, which is paced by the passing of Jeff Brady.

In third year, 3B appears virtually unchallenged. With Mike Caiafa, John Covalesskie, and Bob Laudicino providing an impenetrable forward wall, quarterback Jeff Killeen has had little trouble holding his team on top.

In the soph league, a closer race is developing. Quarterback Petrizzolo has led 2D to the top, but 2G and 2H have both refused to quit and are battling for the top slot.

In first year, class 1G has taken the lead under the sure arm of quarterback Burns and the sharp ballhandling of Crawford and Jones.

Tom Bell passes 4G to top.
